(Reading Comprehension)

1. Read the extract from the poem and answer the questions that follow :

Driving from my Parent's home to Cochin last Friday morning,

I saw my mother, beside me,

Doze, open mouthed, her face ashen like that

Of a corpse and realized with pain

That she was as old as she looked but soon

Put that thought away, and looked out at young

Trees sprinting, the merry children spilling out of their homes, but after the airport's Security check, standing a few yards away, I looked again at her, wan, pale

As a late winter's moon and felt that old familiar ache, my childhood's fear, but all I said was, see you soon, Amma;
All I did was smile and smile and smile.....

On the lovely autumn day I was accompanied by my daughter Zenani. On the Podium, Mr. deKlerk was first sworn in as second deputy president. Then Thabo Mbeki was sworn in as first deputy president. When it was my turn, I pledged to obey and uphold the constitution and to devote myself to the well-being of the Republic and its people. To the assembled guests and the watching world, I said :

'Today, all of us do, by our presence here... Confer glory and hope to newborn liberty. Out of the experience of an extraordinary human disaster that lasted too long, must be born a society of which all humanity will be proud.

We, who were outlaws, not so long ago, have today been given the rare privilege to be host to the nations of the world on our own soil. We thank all of our distinguished international guests for having come to take possession with the people of our country of what is, after all, a common victory for justice, for peace, for human dignity.'

Cardamom, the queen of all spices, has a history as old as the human race. It is the dried fruit of a herbaceous perennial plant. Warm humid climate, loamy soil rich in organic matter, distributed rainfall and special cultivation and processing methods all combine to make Indian cardamom; truly unique in aroma, flavour, size and it has a parrot green colour.

Two types of cardamom are produced in India. The first type is the large one, which has not much significance as it is not traded in the future market. It is cultivated in north-eastern area of the country. The second type is produced in the southern states and these are traded in the future market. These are mainly cultivated in Kerala, Tamil Nadu and Karnataka.

Cardamom is an expensive spice, secondly to saffron. Indian Cardamom is known in two main varieties : Malabar cardamom and Mysore cardamom. The Mysore variety contains leaves of cineol, limonene and hence is more aromatic. India is the world's largest producer and exporter emerged as the leading producer and exporter of cardamom. The main harvest season of cardamom in India is between August–February. Cardamom reaches at yielding stage two years after the plantation. The primary physical markets of cardamom are Kumily Vandenmodu, Jhekkady, Puligarmala in Kerala and Bodynaikkaur and Cumbum in Tamil Nadu.

Kerala is the main producer of cardamom and contributes upto 60% in total production. Karnataka produces around 25% of the total production of cardamom. Ooty is the main producer of cardamom in Tamil Nadu and contributes around 10-15% of the total production.

2. Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow

Poor Kisa Gotami now went from house to house, and the people pitied her and said, "Here is mustard seed; take it !" But when she asked, "Did a son or daughter, a father or mother, die in your family ?" They answered her, "Alas ! The living are few, but the dead are many. Do not remind us of our deepest grief." And there was no house but some beloved one had died in it.

Kisa Gotami became weary and hopeless, and sat down at the wayside watching the lights of the city, as they flickered up and were extinguished again. At last, the darkness of the night reigned everywhere. And she considered the fate of men that their lives flicker up and are extinguished again. And she thought to herself, "How selfish I am in my grief ?"

Answer the following questions :

- (a) Why did Kisa Gotami go from house to house ?
- (b) What did the people tell Gotami ?
- (c) Which word in the passage means 'Sorrow' ?
- (d) What did Kisa Gotami realise in the end ?
- (e) Give the antonym of 'hopeless'.

1×5=5

3. Read the following passage and then answer the questions that follow :

It is rare to find someone with good technical and communication skills. You can get far ahead of your colleagues if you combine the two early in your career. People will judge, evaluate, promote or block you based on your communication skills. Since habits form by repeating both good and bad forms of communication, learn to observe great communicators and adopt their styles and traits—in written and verbal forms. The art of listening and learning from each and every interaction, is another secret recipe. Develop the subconscious habit of listening to yourself as you speak and know when to pause.

Learning what not to say is probably more important than learning what to say. As your career develops, you will realize that the wise speechless. Speak when you have value to add, else refrain. Poorly constructed e-mails with grammatical errors are acceptable between friends, but they should be seriously avoided while communicating formally with your seniors. Avoid any communication in an emotional state when you might say things you will regret later. One unnecessary word uttered at the wrong time or place can ruin a relationship, career or even your life. Such is the power of words. If such a thing happens, you should immediately apologise, else it may haunt you for life.

Another problem to overcome is speaking too fast. This does not necessarily mean that the person hearing it will get it any faster. On the contrary, it is always the reverse. So slow down, think before you speak. "When I get ready to speak to people," Abraham Lincoln said, "I spend two-thirds of the time thinking what they want to hear and one-third thinking what I want to say," Adding humour and wit is also essential. But realize that not all jokes are funny and observe certain boundaries. Never say anything that could offend. Remember you are not a comedian who must offend as many people as you can to be witty.

Answer the following questions :

- (a) Why is it necessary to have good communication skills ?
- (b) What according to the writer should be avoided while communicating ?
- (c) Choose the correct option :

..... said, I spend two-thirds of the time thinking what they want to hear and one-third thinking what I want to say.”

- (i) George Bush
- (ii) Bill Clinton

Crops plants and animals created for human consumption using latest molecular biology techniques can generally be termed GM foods or GMO (Genetically Modified Organism). It has been possible to infuse the desired genetic traits such as disease and/or pest resistance and cold/drought tolerance into important crops to get better yield and nutritional content.

Similarly, GM technology is employed on farm animals to improve milk yield and meat quality. Traditionally, the enhancement of desired traits has been undertaken through breeding of plants and animals. The potential benefit arising from the use of GM technology in agriculture is increased food production, ensuring food security for the abounding millions.

Questions :

- (i) What does GMO stand for ?

(ii) Why is GM technology employed on farm animals ?

(iii) The potential benefit that arises from the use of GM technology in agriculture is food production.

3. Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow :

The most beautiful humming birds are found in the West Indies and South America. The crest of the tiny head of one of these shines like a sparkling crown of coloured light. The shades of colour that adorn its chest are equally brilliant. As the bird flies from one object to another, it looks more like a bright flash of sunlight than it does like a living being.

But, you ask, why are they called humming birds ? It is because they make a soft, humming noise by the rapid motion of their wings—a motion so rapid, that as they fly, you can hardly see that they have wings. One day when walking in the woods, I found the nest of one of the humming birds. It was about half the size of a very small hen and it was attached to a twig no thicker than a steel knitting needle. It seemed to have been made of cotton fibres and was covered with the softest bits of leaf and bark.

Questions :

- (i) Why are these birds called humming birds ?
- (ii) What do you know about the nest of a humming bird ?

2. Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow :

After a long day out in the scorching sun at Nizamuddin railway station, having checked out every bit of garbage disposed off trains, a group of ragpickers gathered for a chat in a rain-swept shelter. This was no regular gathering for them. It was a Mother's Day gathering.

Most children had never heard the word but grew emotional once they got to know what the day signified. Gifts for their mothers ranged from promises of not running away, to earning enough to assure their mothers of some comfort some day. When it came to actual celebrations for the day, a group of boys at the centre run by Chetna, an NGO, near the station, surrounded Shagufta Khan. Some even pulled her hair and the rowdy ones calmed down after a stern glance from her. For many boys and girls, this 47-years old social worker is a face recognized as a help at hand. For quite a few of them, Shagufta is the 'mother' who influences them. When they settled down to talk, the children at Chetna, related their aspirations with thoughtful intent. Umer Bhat, who felt shy to pronounce the word Mother's Day, said he was determined to secure some day, quality life for his mother, who was a domestic worker. His promise to his mother on Mother's Day was to take out his mother from a rented house and to give her a home with a better life, some day.

Umer left school when he was just 9, but is now a motivator for other boys to break free of ragpicking and study through the Open School System. Today, Umer, who is a Class VII student, is the pride of the centre and Shagufta has been a part of his journey all through. She has been convincing the parents of these children to understand their evolution from being a child labourer to a teenager who can acquire skills for a better life.

Ashok for instance, who giggled as the boys tried to pronounce Mother's Day, knew the words 'Mom' and 'Dad' having watched T.V. serials and Hindi films. According to him : "I keep running away from home and fight with my Mom. But on Mother's Day, when I go back, I will not fight and stay with her." The traumatic life stories related by these children become a self-explanation for their aggressive behaviour and their suppressed feelings.

2. Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow :

Childhood, by its very nature, is a time of learning and exploration. Children are sponges, absorbing information and skills at an unparalleled rate. Yet, for millions of children living in slums across the globe, this crucial age is marred by the harsh realities of poverty and limited or no access to education.

Slums, characterized by overcrowding, poor sanitation and lack of basic amenities, present a myriad of challenges to providing quality education. Overcrowded classrooms, often exceeding capacity, create an environment devoid of individual attention and conducive to distractions. Insufficient access to learning materials, from textbooks to digital tools, further cripples the learning process. Teachers, often burdened with large class sizes and limited resources, struggle to cater to the diverse needs of their students.

Beyond infrastructure and resources, socio-economic factors play a significant role in hindering slum children's education. Many families living in poverty are forced to choose between sending their children to school or contributing to the household income. Child labour becomes a grim reality, robbing children of their right to education and jeopardizing their development. For girls, the situation is often worse, with societal pressures leading to early marriage and domestic responsibilities further restricting their access to schooling.

The consequences of inadequate education in slums are far-reaching. Limited literacy and numeracy skills restrict economic opportunities, trapping individuals in cycles of poverty. Lack of education also fuels social inequalities, perpetuating the marginalization of slum communities. Furthermore, the absence of critical thinking and problem-solving skills hinders individuals' ability to advocate for themselves and their communities, limiting their opportunities for social mobility.

However, amidst the challenges, there are glimmers of hope. Innovative initiatives are breaking down barriers and providing slum children with a chance to a brighter future. Community-based organizations are setting-up alternative learning spaces that offer flexible schedules and cater to the specific needs of slum children. Technology is proving to be a powerful tool, with educational apps and online resources bridging the gap in learning materials and access. Additionally, programs that incentivize school attendance and provide financial support to families are yielding positive results in increasing enrolment rates.

However, it is our collective responsibility to ensure that the playground of education is levelled for all children, irrespective of their background. By providing children in slums with quality education, we empower them to break free from the cycle of poverty and pave the way for a brighter future for themselves and their communities.

Questions :

- (i) Mention some challenges faced by slum children with regard to education.
- (ii) Which of the following factors contributes to girls in slums dropping out of school ?

2. Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow :

Slums, characterized by congested living, inadequate sanitation and limited resources, present a complex landscape for educational opportunities. While the struggle for children's education in these areas deserves attention, equally important is the education of adults residing within them. Investing in their living empowers them to improve their own lives, their families' well-being and contribute positively to their communities, and above all to national development.

Barriers to adult education in slums are myriad. Poverty often forces individuals into low-paying jobs, leaving little time or energy for learning. Lack of basic literacy and numeracy skills creates additional hurdles. Childcare responsibilities, particularly for women, further restrict their access to education. Traditional gender roles can also limit women's educational opportunities.

Despite these challenges, the benefits of adult education in slums are undeniable. Literacy and Numeracy empower individuals to manage finances, navigate government services, and make informed decisions about their health and well-being. Increased knowledge can empower individuals to find better employment opportunities, leading to improved living standards for themselves and their families. Literacy also allows parents to support their children's education better.

Several successful initiatives demonstrate the impact of adult education in slums. Community-based programs offer flexible learning hours, childcare services and vocational training tailored to local needs. Mobile classrooms and digital tools reach individuals who cannot attend fixed locations. Non-formal educational methods like storytelling, role-playing and interactive activities make learning engaging and relevant.

However, significant challenges remain. Government support, funding and qualified teachers are often insufficient. Stigma associated with adult illiteracy and lack of awareness about available programs continue to hinder participation. Building partnerships between government agencies, NGOs and local communities is crucial to overcome these challenges and scale up successful initiatives.

To conclude, adult education in slums offers a powerful tool for breaking the cycle of poverty and fostering community development.

By addressing the barriers and investing in innovative learning approaches, we can empower individuals to build better lives and contribute to a more just and equitable world.

Questions :

- (i) ✓ List two main barriers to adult education in slums.

Now the name of little black kitten was Ink,

And the little grey mouse, she called him Blink

And the little yellow dog was sharp as Mustard

But the dragon was a coward and she called him custard.

2. Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow :

Many people believe that science and religion are contrary to each other. But this notion is wrong, as a matter of fact both are complementary to each other. The aim of both these institutions is to explain different aspects of life, universe and human existence. There is no doubt that the methods of science and religion are different. The method of science is observation, experimentation and experience. Science takes its recourse to progressive march towards perfection. The rules of religion are faith, intuition and spoken word of the enlightened, in general ; while science is inclined towards reason and rationality, spiritualism is the essence of religion. In earlier times when man appeared on earth he was over-head at the sight of violent and powerful aspects of nature. In certain cases, the usefulness of different objects of nature overwhelmed man. Thus began the worship of forces of nature – fire, the sun, the rivers, the rocks, the trees, etc. The holy scriptures were written by those who had developed harmony between external nature and their innerself. Their object was to enoble, elevate and liberate the human spirit and mind. But the priestly class took upon itself the monopoly of scriptural knowledge and interpretation to its own advantage. Thus the entire human race was in chains. Truth was flouted and progressive, liberal and truthful ideas or ideas expressing doubt and skepticism were suppressed and their holders punished. It was in these trying circumstances that science emerged as a saviour of mankind but its path was not smooth and safe. The scientists and free thinkers were tortured. This was the fate of Copernicus, Galileo, Bruno and others but, by and by science gained ground.

Questions :

(i) Why does man worship the forces of nature ?

(a) The holy scriptures advocate the worship.

(b) The worship elevates and liberates the human spirit and mind.

(c) The worship makes man believe in faith and mind.

(d) The forces of nature teach us spiritualism.

(ii) Which of the following statements is true ?

(a) Science and religion are antagonistic to each other.

(b) ~~X~~ Science encourages worshipping of nature.

(c) Religion is essential for external peace and harmony.

(d) Science is essential for inner peace of mind.

(iii) According to the passage science and religion :

- (a) are contrary to each other.
- (b) have the same origin.
- (c) are supportive to each other.
- (d) have the same aim of controlling universe.

(iv) What was the object of the authors of the holy scriptures ?

- (a) To teach man the methods of worshipping nature.
- (b) To advocate the progressive and liberal ideas.
- (c) To develop harmony between external nature and their innerself
- (d) None of these

(v) The synonym of 'Flouted' is :

- (a) ~~Expressed~~
- (b) ~~Mocked~~
- (c) Deflated
- (d) Concealed

Shalimar, Srinagar

Dear Sir,

The Humanitarian Society of Jammu is a Charitable Association working for eradication of some diseases (Cancer and Haemophilia). The organization helps the people with these disorders. It even bears huge expenses for treatment of the diseases as mentioned. The society is meant especially for the poor. It also provides free medical advice and medicines. We would deem it a gesture of kindness and generosity if students contribute to the noble cause. The students may even request their parents to contribute generously towards this cause.

It is hoped that we shall be helped in this venture.

Thank you very much !

Yours Sincerely,

Dr. A.K. Sawhney

It feels great to be skilled and good at something, doesn't it ? And this is what that makes you confident. It can take some time to develop your hobby so that you may be able to tell that you are skilled. But the journey of experiencing your hobby is very rewarding in itself. With the exposure to different types of activities these days, it doesn't matter which activity you choose. Whether you are pursuing a craft, sports, puzzles or skill development. Your hobby should be a diversion and a passion.

Hobbies give you an opportunity to enhance your life. Hobbies allow you to de-stress yourself while remaining mentally productive. Having hobbies promotes better health and may lower the risk of having high blood pressure. Enjoying a few hours of your hobby a week can also reduce the risk of depression and dementia. Hobbies refocus your mind onto something that you enjoy doing. Hobbies that include physical activities creates chemical changes in your body that help to reduce stress.

Hobbies may provide an opportunity for you to socialize with people and that can be an additional benefit for your over-all well-being. You can connect with people who enjoy doing the same things that you do. You can meet new people, discuss your hobby and get connected to a bigger circle that may even help you turn your hobby into your profession. The internet provides numerous groups and forums to connect with people that enjoy doing the same things that you want to do. <https://www.jkboseonline.com>

Some hobbies require creativity and if you develop creativity through your hobby, it can be beneficial. Creativity can help you experience new things at school and work. The skill of being creative is essential in today's world.

Today's kids can identify with none of the traditional toys. If it's girl, she's busy adding to her Barbie collection, if it's a boy there's Tarzan or Superman or even Sony's Playstation for him. Toy carts have made way for black and gold Ferraris and Lamborghinis. As for the cartwheels and windmills, few kids would know what you are talking of. Many parents feel that children cannot even differentiate between toys that are Indian and foreign. All that matters is that they should be familiar figures or trendy palythings, as seen on television. In a market-driven economy, toy manufactureres are only cashing on this trend. The fallout from this is two-fold : one, the death of India's toy-making tradition, and two, the influence of an alien culture on a child's mind. That is why some social activists have begun campaigning for a ban on what they describe as 'Western toys'. "Indian toys are not only part of an art tradition but contribute to the well-rounded growth of an individual's personality", explains Vaidehi Thakkar, a child specialist, "Besides, they are environment-friendly since we have a custom of making toys from bio-degradable material".

Clay modellers who used to make dolls, masks, animal forms and tiny carts are no longer seen even in village fairs. Many have turned to farming or are working as coolies in big cities and the few left behind, are tying their hand at pottery and making idols during festival season.

Makers of toys from wood, paper and cloth are also complaining about the gradual extinction of an art form, but they find themselves completely powerless in countering the popularity of machine-made toys.

2. Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow :

A friend who went on a trip to Canada came back, very impressed with the courtesy of drivers on the roads there. Like all of us, he was used to chaos on the streets and the absolute disregard for anyone else walking or driving on the street. So he was astonished to see that the minute he put one foot off the pavement, cars on both sides of the road would stop, waiting for him to cross; even if he like most Indians, did not walk up to the Zebra crossing. The first couple of times it happened, he froze, wondering what he had done to stop traffic. But the cars just waited patiently till he crossed, with no angry honking or anyone putting their heads out of their windows to scream. Later, he got off the pavement a few times, just to see what would happen. And without fail, cars would stop to let him pass, even if he tried to wave them on. He came back, most impressed by the discipline of Canadians, among other things. Unfortunately, discipline is a trait we lack-all of us must have been guilty at some time or the other, of dashing across the street, making the nearest driver slam his brakes in panic.

When discipline is inculcated in people, you see cars stopping at a red light, even when there's no traffic for miles around..... and nobody in the west will try to overtake a row of waiting cars and zip ahead, even if there are no cars coming from the opposite side. Here, everyone will try to get out of line and cause a jam that'll delay them further and the honking of horns will make an infernal racket.

2. Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow: (1×5=5)

Polythene shopping bags and wrappers are potential threat to urban environment. Once you have discarded them after use, you do not lose your link with them. They return to you in variety of ways, though you do not realize it. For example, they choke your drains and provide breeding facilities to deadly germs. A recent study has shown that about 250 tons of plastic wastes come out of various colonies of major cities alone every day. This disrupts the sewer system, the essential arteries of city life. These plastic wastes choke the land mass and clog the pores of the wetlands. Unfortunately, even the villages and small towns are not free from this danger. Millions of people returning to their hometowns every day carry their shopping colourful bags. This pleases their family and children, who after preserving them for a time dispose them in wells, rivers, tanks and drains. Many throw them off into the fields. They do it with a sense of pride to show off. When their neighbours see that their men from the cities regularly bring them those good things of life, they are impressed. In Delhi, the worst offenders are the upper-income groups of the so-called posh colonies. Though educated, the residents of these affluent areas are unaware of the damage done by the plastic bags. Near a million children in Delhi schools carry their lunch boxes in plastic bags. They callously throw them away and cause unhealthy environment. As it is convenient for mothers to wrap the food in plastic, it is difficult to persuade them against doing this. According to the drill master of a school in R.K. Puram, it becomes a drill to clean the field after the children leave. When the midday meal scheme is fully implemented, it must be seen that no plastic wrappers are used.

As these wrappers are light in weight, they are borne aloft by the wind causing visual shocks. Unlike cotton or paper bags, they remain undissolved in the mud and stop the rainwater from seeping deep into the earth. This affects the natural growth of Plants.

Questions :

- (i) According to the passage, what is the major problem caused by discarded polythene bags?
 - (a) They increase food production
 - (b) They choke drains and breed germs
 - (c) They improve soil fertility
 - (d) They reduce water pollution

- (ii) How much plastic waste is reported to come out of major city colonies every day?
- (a) 150 tons
 - (b) 200 tons
 - (c) 250 tons
 - (d) 300 tons
- (iii) Who are identified as the worst offenders in Delhi regarding plastic waste?
- (a) Lower-income groups
 - (b) Shopkeepers in small markets
 - (c) Villagers returning home
 - (d) Residents of posh colonies

(iv) Why is it difficult to persuade mothers not to use plastic for wrapping food?

- (a) It is cheaper than paper
- (b) It is colourful and attractive
- (c) It is convenient for them
- (d) It is good for health

(v) What effect do plastic bags have on the soil?

- (a) They make the soil fertile

1. Read the following extract and answer the questions that follow : (1×5=5)

Why, who makes much of a miracle?

As to me I know of nothing else but miracles,

Whether I walk the streets of Manhattan,

Or dart my sight over the roofs of houses toward the sky,

Or wade with naked feet along the beach just in the edge of the water,

Or stand under trees in the woods,

Or talk by day with anyone I love.

2. Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow : (1×5=5)

In recent years, online gaming has become one of the most popular activities among students. With the rise of smartphones, laptops, and easy access to the internet, games are now just a click away. While playing games can be a source of entertainment and relaxation, an increasing number of students are falling into the trap of online gaming addiction.

Online gaming addiction occurs when students spend excessive amounts of time playing games, often at the cost of their studies, health, and social life. Many young people feel an irresistible urge to log in and play, even when they know it is affecting their performance in school. As a result, homework remains incomplete, exam preparation is neglected, and classroom concentration declines. This not only lowers academic achievement but also damages self-confidence.

The addiction also affects physical and mental health. Long hours of sitting in front of a screen can lead to eye strain, headaches, and back pain. Lack of physical activity increases the risk of obesity and related health issues. Mentally, students may become anxious, irritable, or isolated from family and friends. In extreme cases, some even develop depression when they cannot balance their virtual and real lives.

Another concern is the effect on social relationships. Many addicted students prefer interacting with online players rather than spending time with family or classmates. This weakens real-world bonds and makes students dependent on a virtual world where victories are temporary and often meaningless.

However, it is important to note that not all gaming is harmful. In moderation, games can improve problem-solving skills, sharpen reflexes, and even encourage teamwork. The real problem arises when students lose control and cannot set limits for themselves.

To tackle this issue, students should learn time management skills and create a healthy routine that balances study, play, and rest. Parents and teachers also play a vital role by guiding children, setting screen-time rules, and encouraging outdoor activities. Awareness programs in schools can help students understand the dangers of addiction and develop self-control.

In conclusion, online gaming is not entirely negative, but addiction to it can ruin a student's academic, physical, and emotional well-being. The key lies in moderation, discipline, and responsible use of technology.

Questions :

- (i) Online gaming addiction is the excessive use of online games to the point where it affects studies, health, and

One that lovely autumn day I was accompanied by my daughter Zenani. On the podium, Mr de Klerk was first sworn in as second deputy president. Then Thabo Mbeki was sworn in as first deputy president. When it was my turn, I pledged to obey and uphold the constitution and to devote myself to the well-being of the Republic and its people. To the assembled guests and the watching world, I said:

Today, all of us do, by our presence here... confer glory and hope to new born liberty. Out of the experience of an extra ordinary human disaster that lasted too long, must be born a society of which all humanity will be proud.

We, who were outlaws, not so long ago, have today been given the rare privilege to be host to the nations of the world on our own soil. We thank all our distinguished international guests for having come to take possession with the people of our country of what is, after all, a common victory for justice, for peace, for human dignity.

The Cancer Society of Kashmir
407 – Tulsi bagh
Srinagar

2nd March 2021
The Principal
Public Higher Secondary School
Sonwar

Dear Sir,

The Cancer Society of Kashmir is a charitable organisation working for eradication of some diseases (cancer and haemophilia).

The organization helps the people who are suffering from cancer, haemophilia and some other disorders. It even bears huge expenses for treatment of the diseases as mentioned. The society is meant especially for those who are extremely poor. It also provides, free medical advice and medicines. We would deem it a gesture of kindness and generosity if students contribute to the cause of rendering help to the people of Jammu and Kashmir who are suffering from these diseases. The students may even request their parents to contribute generously towards the noble cause.

It is hoped that we are helped in this venture.

Thank you very much.

Yours Sincerely,
Dr. A.K. Sawhney
